Title: Preparing Students for Top Colleges:

Advanced Reading and Study Skills for Success in Grades 8 – 12

Speaker: Neil R. Chyten

Founder and President Chyten Educational Services

Mr. Chyten has 30 years of experience helping students attain seats in America's Top Colleges and earn millions of dollars in academic scholarships.

Description:

Many students do not, or cannot achieve the high grades or test scores they need to gain admission into top U.S. colleges and universities. Even those that get into top colleges often struggle to keep up, since the workload in college is much greater than it is in high school. In a study released in August of 2012, it was determined that only 25% of all students tested were proficient in four benchmark educational categories needed for success in college: English/Language Arts; Reading; Mathematics; Science

To be considered for the best jobs after college, students must not only gain admission into top colleges, they must earn great grades while in college. However, many students are simply not prepared for the college workload while they are in high school.

To help high achieving students prepare for success at top colleges and universities, Chyten Educational Services has created a program called

The RANDD Advanced Reading and Study Skills
Program for High Achieving Students

Students who use the techniques and strategies described in the RANDD program will learn to study more efficiently and more effectively. They will perform to a higher level in their classes, earning better grades and higher test scores. They will emerge with a greater degree of satisfaction and with a heightened level of self-confidence. The RANDD Advanced Reading and Study Skills Program for High Achieving Students provides students with skills, strategies and vital information that will help them in ten ways. They will learn to:

1. Earn higher test scores
2. Increase grade point average (GPA).
3. Study more efficiently.
4. Make better use of study time.
5. Increase reading speed.
6. Increase reading comprehension.
7. Improve memory.
8. Take efficient classroom notes.
9. Write better papers.
10. Master challenging homework assignments.

About Chyten Educational Services

In today's more challenging world, each child must have the kind of competitive advantage that Chyten provides in order to win seats at top-choice private schools, colleges and universities. Chyten's unequalled record of success has been featured in numerous national and local newspapers articles as well as several TV and radio broadcasts. Not surprisingly, Chyten has become the talk of the town and the go-to service for those who demand the best for their own children attending public or private schools. More than 100 MIT and Harvard professors and administrators, the Presidents of MIT, Tufts and Leslie University, the Director of Admission at Harvard, and countless admissions and guidance officials have all sent their children to Chyten!
